NOT IN KANSAS ANYMORE

Custom-built just four years ago, this two-story contemporary farmhouse in West Stockbridge, Massachusetts, is probably a little more house than most real farmers once required. But hey, things change, and sometimes for the better. This 6,000-plus-square-foot residence is all about twenty-first-century perks, including a family/media room, hand-stained maple floors, built-in main-level stereo system, three working fireplaces, and an upstairs master suite that includes an office area and private gym. There are also five other bedrooms, a state-of-the-art kitchen, and dining room. Set on ten acres of extensively landscaped grounds that feature stone walkways, patios, and an in-ground heated pool, let's just say that if Dorothy had lived in this farmhouse, Oz might have been something of a letdown.—CN $2,800,000
